. Monster of the Week! Roedra:

Type: Unstable
Height: 3ft 2in
Weight: 55lb
Life Expectancy: 22yr
Strength: Lightning Fast Movement

Roedra are electricity-based river serpents. Deceptively built like a towering sea serpent, this small fry whips through the streams and rivers of Crown Island while snapping down on fish and dazzling those that it misses with a barrage of sparks.

Roedra feed exclusively on fish, however, they find Humans, especially those they see as direct competition (for example, fishermen) as tremendous nuisances. It's not unusual to find these ankle-biters lunging at your feet or hissing from the rapids.

Feeding on fatty, red fish Roedra generally don't pose much of a threat, however, in times of high humidity and thunderstorms an amazing phenomena occurs. Roedra becomes able to swim freely in water and air alike, creating a rude surprise for those that live near their territory. Luckily Roedra has a glaring weak point - hammering the horn on its head will forever render it unable to use electrical powers or leave the waters ever again.

Will Roedra make your team?. Monster Crown is now live on Kickstarter!:

Check out our latest Monster of the Week!

Type: Will
Height: 4ft 6in
Weight: 148lbs
Life Expectancy: 30 yr
Strength: Mega Volt Power

Tucked away deep in an underground facility, Vult is rarely seen by outsiders. No records of the monster exist before recent times, seemingly having sprung forth from the stray bolts of an overwhelming source of electrical power.

This monster is quite slow but can unleash a thunderous surge of lightning. They seem to have poor eyesight. As they slither they drag their heavy heads along the ground lazily. Tamers are advised to resist leaning on Vult unnecessarily - while a rare occurrence, the energy stored deep within them can travel through a human and diffuse into the ground unexpectedly, a feat Vult seems to be unable to control consciously. This seems to happen less frequently as they age.

Vult do not appear to age physically, but instead grow weak or strong depending on the frequency with which they are commanded to let loose power.

Will Vult make your team?. Monster Storytelling:
A few people asked me to explain what exactly I meant, or what had me so excited!

Well have you ever played and learned a new TCG game? I know I have, and at first, well, I have to pick up my opponent's every card and read it carefully. "Oh! wow, turns out I really am as screwed as he said! pls ban or I kick and scream.", etc....
